I am drawn to the figurines, both souvenirs and decorative objects from the 1950s that I observed on the shelves and tabletops of my middle-class home. As a child they fascinated me. Now I understand them to be objects that illustrate cultural messages about gender roles and the value of certain types of people. Recently I focused on objects that depict Indians, cowboys and horses, as well as images of Western romantic sepia landscapes - and how they influence American culture. Ongoing - The Corrigan Gallery llc is celebrating its 17th year of representing local artists creating nontraditional work.
